Location

Lana – The Heart of Apple Cultivation in South Tyrol

Lana is located in the Etschtal Valley, making it one of the most important fruit-growing regions in South Tyrol. Thanks to its mild climate, abundant sunshine, and fertile soil, high-quality apples with excellent flavor thrive here. The region is renowned for its modern fruit farming, combining traditional cultivation methods with innovative techniques such as hail nets and drip irrigation.

Apple varieties like Granny Smith, Kanzi, Gala, and Golden Delicious find ideal conditions in Lana. The local apple industry is characterized by sustainable farming, high yields, and premium quality, making it an attractive location for fruit growers and investors alike.
